Tag-Tails Safety & Welfare Notice

Last updated: 18 September 2026

1. Purpose

This Safety & Welfare Notice explains the limits of the Tag-Tails service and clarifies what pet owners and finders should expect when using QR tags, scan alerts, and related features. Tag-Tails is designed to help reunite lost pets with their owners quickly and safely. It is not a GPS tracker, monitoring device, or welfare guarantee.

2. Pet Safety Responsibilities

Pet owners remain fully responsible for:

- The safety and welfare of their pets
- Ensuring collars, harnesses, and tags are fitted securely
- Supervising pets appropriately
- Complying with local laws and regulations

Tag-Tails does not replace proper pet supervision or secure containment.

3. Limitations of the Tag-Tails System

Tag-Tails provides QR tags and optional SMS alerts. The system:

- Does not track pets in real time
 - Only provides location when a finder scans the tag and chooses to share it
 - Cannot guarantee that a finder will contact the owner
 - Cannot guarantee recovery of a lost pet
 - May be affected by mobile network issues or device limitations

4. Finder Conduct

Finders who scan a Tag-Tails tag should:

- Act responsibly and with care
- Contact the owner only for the purpose of reporting a found pet

- Avoid causing distress or harm to the animal

Finders are not required to transport or handle the pet unless they choose to.

5. No Liability for Pet Loss or Injury

Tag-Tails Ltd is not liable for:

- Injury, illness, or harm to pets
- Pets escaping or becoming lost
- Failure of a finder to make contact
- Incorrect or outdated owner information
- Damage to tags caused by pets or environmental conditions

The service is an aid to reunification, not a safety device.

6. Emergency Situations

In emergencies involving animal welfare, users and finders should contact:

- Local veterinary services
- Animal rescue organisations
- Relevant authorities

Tag-Tails is not an emergency response service.

7. Updates to This Notice

Tag-Tails may update this Safety & Welfare Notice periodically. Continued use of the service indicates acceptance of any changes.

If you want to add a Finder Quick Guide, Pet Owner Tips, or a Lost Pet Action Plan, I can generate those next.
